2022 Gubernatorial General Toolkit

A 2022 Communications Plan to Support the Gubernatorial General Election

Social Media & Communications Toolkit

Social Media & Communications for Maryland 2022 Gubernatorial Elections

Introduction

This document provides resources to communicate with Maryland's electorate and those eligible to become registered voters. These resources will uniformly guide voter information across channels of communication in accordance with the election calendar of events.

In addition to this plan, please incorporate voter communications tailored to your unique voting populaces. Clear, ongoing, and effective voter communication and education is proven to optimize voter registration records, enhance voter preparation, help prevent long lines, boost election judge recruitment, promote the efficient and effective functioning of voting locations, and facilitate overall voter understanding of election and voting processes and procedures.

Tagline

2022 is a gubernatorial election year following decennial redistricting in which voters will need to be prepared to successfully and independently exercise their voting rights and participate in Maryland elections safely and successfully. Redistricting means new state and congressional district lines based on current census data, which determines who appears on your ballot, where you can vote, and how our communities are represented. Uniformly communicating how #MDvotes is critical to the successful, safe operation of our polling places and vote centers during early voting and on election days, as well as supporting Marylanders voting by mail to successfully request and return their ballot.

Website and Social Media Accounts

An organization's online presence sets the tone for its brand and offers the most significant opportunity to shape public perception, inform and engage customers, maintain relevancy, and enhance confidence. Digital communications are among the most powerful channels for informing the electorate and gaining voter confidence. Online platforms provide optimal visibility to cost-effectively reach maximal people compared to traditional communications methods. Therefore, curating these web-based platforms is an ongoing public communications and voter education priority.

- Social media accounts typically have slow organic growth and need to be consistently curated with content followers perceive as valuable.

- Cross-promote social accounts by asking Twitter followers for Facebook page and Instagram account likes and asking Facebook fans to be Twitter and Instagram followers, and vice versa, to gain a larger audience.

- Use Facebook's "Invite friends to like this Page" feature to ask your friends to like the page to gain more likes.

- Updates including images and/or video perform significantly better than those that do not, so use relevant media when posting online. Forums, newsworthy developments, election information, and voter outreach events are all opportunities to take and share images and videos. Otherwise, relevant graphics, memes, or gifs may be culturally appropriate to incorporate into posts. There is no limit to how visually compelling imagery or graphics may be creatively utilized to attract attention and engage followers.

- Image sizes matter when posting online, and social media sites are always adjusting layouts and dimensions, which affects how images display. Make sure to stay current with the social media platform's recommendations concerning image sizes and dimensions.

- Incorporate calls to action instructing your audience to act now, usually using an imperative verb or call-to-action such as "register now", "learn more", "vote early today", etc.

- For best results, monitor the performance of each update and adjust for continuous improvement while following the rules and best practices of all social accounts utilized. Generally, lunch breaks and peak commuting hours are good times of the day for users to see your updates. Use each platform's insights and analytics to see when your fans or followers are typically online. Scheduling posts in advance utilizing a social aggregator is a convenient way for your account to deploy timely updates on schedule throughout the busy election cycle.

- Social media platforms and website functionality are ever-evolving with current digital communications and social trends. New applications and trends are constantly emerging, while existing top social media application providers are continuously updating their services and algorithms resulting in numerous noteworthy changes for social media users each year. Sites like Social Media Today help you stay current with breaking social trends and updates.

Getting Started

Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram all have comprehensive help centers with all the information you need to get started with social media:

Twitter: support.twitter.com

Facebook: facebook.com/help

Instagram: help.instagram.com

Hashtag

The official Maryland election hashtag is-- #MDvotes – please utilize it throughout social media posts. Hashtags are used to identify messages on a specific topic, which helps to enter larger conversations beyond account followers to garner greater visibility. The hashtag is short, concise, and is intended to inclusively inform voters on all Maryland election-related matters.

Fielding Questions

It is important to monitor comments regularly on social platforms to make sure that there isn't a reoccurring question or misunderstanding that needs to be addressed. Engaging in answering questions is valuable, but it is not advisable to engage in arguments or negative comments unless there is a neutral, fact-based response. For direct messages, link to resources or scripted responses for frequently asked questions.

Website Resources

The SBE website is a great resource for upcoming election news and dates. You can utilize specific links that include Voter Services where an individual can verify registration, register to vote, and check polling locations. You can also locate the 2022 election calendar and a list of filed candidates, vote by mail (absentee voting) information with access to the ballot application as well as UOCAVA information.

For reference, the SBE election information website is:
elections.maryland.gov/2022

Facebook

Use Facebook to engage users by making them aware of resources and activities leading up to election day milestones. Facebook allows page administrators to share text, pictures, videos, live streams, website links, events, live coverage, and other content.

Page Optimization
Optimal times to post on Facebook:
- Early afternoon to get the most shares
- Midafternoon to get the most clicks
- Peak days are Thursday and Friday
- Anytime between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. is considered a decent time to post for engagement purposes

Monitor your page's insights to track the performance of your posts and adjust to enhance performance.

The first step in engaging with us is to "like" SBE's page and LBEs' Facebook pages. The SBE Facebook page is:

Twitter

With over 330 million monthly active users, Twitter is one of the social media networks that will most often be used to discuss a brand. Tweets can contain images, gifs, live streams, and polls. Twitter is the birthplace of hashtags, which are now used throughout the most prominent social networks. The registered Maryland election hashtag, #MDvotes, engages the public in conversations about election information, thereby promoting increased social media activity to educate Marylanders.

Images
For gaining more engagement, clicks, retweets, and replies, Twitter images work. You can include up to 4 images per tweet. Uploaded photos will appear in your followers' streams and the streams of their followers (if retweeted). Note that Twitter may collapse your image into a smaller version to fit into a user's stream. Make sure Twitter displays the portion of the image you want followers to see by setting the width of your image to fit minimum requirements. Also, horizontally center your content to avoid cropping.

Additionally, Twitter makes adding alt text to images easy, which is compatible with screen readers and assistive technology. Adding brief image descriptions of each image used is encouraged.

Character Limit
Media attachments (images, GIFs, videos, polls, etc.) and quoted tweets do not count toward the 280-character limit. The extra room for text gives users more flexibility in composing messages.

When sharing links, you can utilize short URLs (Uniform Resource Locators: the unique address for each webpage) created through a URL shortener to keep tweets within the 280-character Twitter limit.

Scheduling Tweets

A free option for scheduling tweets is tweetdeck.twitter.com. To schedule tweets via TweetDeck, sign in with your Twitter account.

Timing Considerations
- Early afternoon is when tweets generally receive the most clicks

- Evenings and late at night are the times when tweets receive the most favorites and retweets, on average
- The most convenient and popular times to tweet during the day are not necessarily the best times to tweet for engagement
- Twitter engagement is generally higher on weekends

It's helpful to monitor tweet activity and to experiment to find the times of peak engagement with your followers. Check the account analytics for performance insights.

Follow SBE's and LBEs' Twitter accounts. The SBE Twitter handle is:
@md_sbe
twitter.com/md_sbe

YouTube

SBE has a YouTube account to host videos; the channel can be accessed here.

If you use YouTube, subscribe to SBE's account to stay current.

Instagram, Snapchat, Tumblr, Pinterest, Flickr, TikTok, and Vine

SBE does not maintain accounts on Instagram, Snapchat, Tumblr, Pinterest, Flickr, TikTok, or Vine. However, if you do utilize these platforms, we encourage you to share photo/video content with SBE so they can also be promoted through SBE's website and social accounts for wider reach. We also encourage you to incorporate #MDvotes.

Timeline

This timeline primarily features sample tweets, which can also serve as Facebook posts. Please note that while tweets often make suitable Facebook posts, not all Facebook posts make good tweets given Twitter's 280-character space limitation. Unless labeled as Facebook posts, the following suggested social media updates are crafted as tweets and can be posted on almost any social platform.
- The updates contain full URLs, but are designed so that you can insert a shortened URL that leads to the same webpage as the original URL.
- Image ideas are interspersed throughout this social timeline to inspire visually appealing, engaging content. To enlarge for better visibility, select an image and drag a corner.
- You can use your own shortened URLs or use the following to insert into your social media posts. Remember to always check the link for accuracy before posting.
